

Kristopher Doe is a Southern California born and raised artist who grew up in the artistically rich San Gabriel Valley City of Pasadena, which was home to many of the California Impressionist, Plein Air painters of the early 20th century. This artistic heritage was instilled at a young age and has served as his greatest inspiration in his pursuit of his own observations of the magnificent natural environment of our Golden State and beyond.

A graduate of Pasadena's Art Center College of Design, Kris has enjoyed over 25 years experience as a successful freelance illustrator, fine art painter and college level drawing, painting and design instructor throughout Southern and Central California at both public and private educational institutions.
